

We'd love to have you join our EcoHotels.com community for sustainable hotels and sincere eco-entrepreneurs, strongly committed to sustainable development!

We can offer you:

EcoHotels.com provides a booking site based on fair principles: low commissions, best practice sharing, and a sense of community – ensuring that we can continue to run our properties with a passion for sustainability.

Free sign-up and guidance

8% commission for 2021

10% commission for perpetuity thereafter.

A community where we can share good ideas, best practices, new technologies and favorite suppliers

One Booking

One Tree

Being the change...

EcoHotels.com is committed to giving back to the environment, and we have chosen a significant area in which to make a difference: Planting trees to increase reforestation and biodiversity.

We have planted the first 25.000 trees in Denmark, helping this overly farmed country to increase eco-diversity and create a livable habitat for insect and animal species, as well as reducing CO2.

In the near future, we will enter into sustainable alliances to plant trees around the world, through the EcoHotels Foundation, which is in the process of being established.

Truly dedicated & certified hotels

We ensure that only truly dedicated and certified hotels are on our site – at the same time, we understand that sustainability has many faces and that each hotel may have its own approach to sustainability, prioritizing what lies closest to their hearts.

There are many certifications out there, and some are more intense than others (and some are just greenwashing, as we're sure you agree).

So, we have decided that the Global Sustainable Tourism Council's list of approved certifications will be the gateway to joining our site. Your hotel already meets this certification standard and is ready to go.

FACTS, TRANSPARENCY, AND LESS GREENWASHING.

We believe that tourism, one of the world's largest and fastest-growing industries, has the potential to be a power for good. In order for that to happen, we need more facts, more transparency, and less greenwashing. EcoHotels.com aims to be a tool for the sustainability-conscious traveler, who values commitment and responsible actions equally to a good experience and a comfortable stay...

We hope to welcome you into our family, and work with you towards a brighter and more sustainable future – full of exciting adventures across the world!

